*The Village of Roscommon is not responsible for monitoring and/or maintenance of private property, which includes the service line and the interior plumbing on said private property. However, we recommend that you turn your water off to prevent plumbing mishaps while you're gone. Shutting off the water to your building is the best protection against catastrophic water damage and water bill charges that could cost you hundreds possibly thousands of dollars. This section of the ordinance is described below.

Ordinance #3, Section 2,

Definitions:

Customer Portion: that part of the service lying between the property line and the building serviced.

Service Line: the pipe which connects the water main with the water meter.

Village Portion: that part of the service lying between the public water main and the property line.

Water Main: all pipe or pipes, except service lines, used for the conveyance or distribution of water.
